

WHO WE ARE

The Sierra Nevada Concrete Association (SNCA) is composed of companies from all parts of the concrete construction industry. The SNCA is an active force in promoting the use of quality concrete for all types of construction, and to benefit all aspects of the community. SNCA works on issues and projects where group rather than individual action is most effective, providing programs for the collective improvement of the industry and the particular benefit of member companies.

WHO YOU ARE

From patios to highways, tilt ups to custom homes, the construction material that brings home the business is concrete. Your daily tasks may be installation, transport, production, supply, engineering or architecture and you realize the need to promote and encourage the use, consumption and quality of concrete along with its related products and services. But you realize you can't do this alone. There is a choice in construction materials and your mainstay product needs a voice in that marketplace — a voice that tells the compelling story of concrete and its distinctive advantages as a sustainable, cost-effective, long-term building material.

WHAT THE SNCA CAN DO FOR YOU

SNCA provides the northern Nevada and northern California region with:

- Outreach and marketing for potential clients and projects
- Professional learning through classes, seminars and the annual Concrete Expo
- Help dealing with regulatory and environmental issues
- Promotion of concrete over competitive materials (steel and asphalt) and analyses of concrete pavement through oversight and/or review of concrete pavement research projects
- Partnering with state, city, and county governments to ensure quality construction
- College scholarships to develop future industry leaders

This multi-faceted approach benefits SNCA members. It brings better bid specs, and a greater chance to bring your company work that is concrete-focused. SNCA works closely with groups such as California Nevada Cement Association and Concrete Paving Association to tell the concrete story that puts you in a better position for increased market share.

If you are a member of the concrete industry and would like to become more involved, please consider joining SNCA. To become a member, complete the attached application or visit us online at sierranevadaconcrete.org.
